

NEW STUDY ARRANGEMENTS

We have updated our delivery mode to adapt to the COVID pandemic

Students can kick start their studies via eLearning, online live stream, and face-to-face classes

Study arrangements will depend on your area of study and the requirements of each unit

eLearning

This is the most flexible delivery mode, it allows students to navigate their study at their own pace.

Online Live Stream

This delivery mode has no location restrictions. Trainers deliver the classes live, which allows students to study anywhere around the world with real time interaction with trainers and peers.

Face-to-face

This mode is mandatory when a course has practical components (and/or vocational placement), it allows students to learn and practice in front of their trainers (or placement supervisor).

eLearning

This is the most flexible delivery mode; it allows students to navigate their study at their own pace. Students have access to their study materials, such as pre-recorded lectures, learner guides, and assessment tools (workbook, quizzes).

Their learning is supplemented by:

- General consultation (weekly)

This is an optional consultation session that provides students with an opportunity to discuss any study topics and ask any general questions about their course, placement requirements, workshop/kitchen hours, etc.

- Specialised consultation (weekly)

This is a consultation session that focuses on a student's specific unit of competency. During this time, their trainer will conduct assessment training, and/or any assessment or activities that needs to be observed and/or assessed, such as role plays, group discussions, presentations etc.

Online Live Stream

This delivery mode has no location restrictions. Trainers deliver the classes live, which allows students to study anywhere around the world with real time interaction with their trainer and peers.

- Theory classes

Trainers deliver a live lecture to students and provide an opportunity for students to ask questions about the unit.

- Assessment discussion

Students can discuss their assessment with their trainer and peers, and receive feedback on their work.

Face-to-face

This mode is mandatory when a course has practical components (and/or vocational placement), it allows students to learn and practice in front of their trainer/ placement supervisor.

- Practical classes

These will vary from qualification to qualification but may include practical training in a workshop or restaurant, or simulation lab.

- Vocational placement (if applicable)

Vocational placement allows students to apply their knowledge and skills in a real-world environment.

Note: The study arrangements listed above are not optional and will depend on your area of study and the requirements of each unit.
